

SEO Growth Strategy

asksayso.com

A complete plan to turn asksayso.com into an organic lead-generation machine — built around how real estate agents actually search when they're in pain.

■ Human Psychology First — The Buyer's Mind

Real estate agents search when they're in emotional pain — embarrassment about fumbling calls, fear of rejection, shame about missing numbers. Map every page to the exact emotional state the searcher is in, and you win both the click and the conversion.

#1 Awareness — Pain

"I'm terrible on prospecting calls and losing confidence"

Emotion: They feel shame. They want a quick fix that isn't embarrassing.

Target: Blog content, comparison pages, objection guides

#2 Consideration — Comparing

""real estate call coaching app" / "objection handling script real estate""

Emotion: They're shopping. They need social proof and clear differentiation.

Target: Comparison pages, testimonial pages

#3 Decision — Intent

""Sayso real estate app review" / "Sayso vs Parlay""

Emotion: They've heard of you. Remove every friction point between them and signup.

Target: Review page, demo CTA, comparison pages

#4 Post-Signup — Retention

""how to handle 'not interested' real estate cold call""

Emotion: They're using the tool but want to get better. Keep them engaged.

Target: Blog / resource content that drives deeper app usage

■ ■ Lead Generation Machine — What to Change

Above the Fold — The 1-Second Rule

A visitor decides to stay or leave in ~1 second. Current headline "Book 2x More Appointments" is strong — but add a sub-headline that names the pain: "Stop forgetting your scripts mid-call. Sayso coaches you live." The pain hook converts higher than the benefit hook alone.

Add a Conversion Path for Organic Traffic

Organic visitors are colder than paid. Add a secondary CTA: "Watch a 90-second demo →" — lower friction than a direct download. Capture email before the app-store bounce. This creates a lead, not just a click.

Make Testimonials Irresistibly Specific

You have "12x more efficient" — excellent. But specificity = credibility. Add market context: "In my first week using Sayso in Long Beach's competitive market, I booked 3 appointments I would have fumbled." Numbers + location + timeline = conversion.

Add Schema Markup for the Product

Implement SoftwareApplication + AggregateRating schema. This surfaces star ratings directly in Google results — higher click-through rate from the same ranking position, at zero extra cost.

Build Programmatic Niche Landing Pages

The MDX blog + structured data setup is a superpower. Generate pages for every real-estate niche: FSBOs, expired listings, new agents, team leads. Each page targets one specific search intent and funnels directly to signup.

■ Quick Wins — Do These First

#1

FAQ Schema Markup

The FAQ section already exists on the homepage. Add JSON-LD FAQ schema — 20 minutes of work. Unlocks rich snippets (accordion answers in Google results), boosting CTR from the same rank.

Comparison Page: Sayso vs Parlay

Anyone searching 'Sayso vs Parlay' or 'Sayso vs competitor' is at maximum purchase intent. A single dedicated comparison page converts at 3-5x the homepage rate — build it now.

#3

Objection-Specific Landing Pages

Create pages targeting: 'how to handle not interested real estate cold call', 'expired listing objections script', 'FSBO cold call script'. These intercept agents at the exact moment of pain.

Secondary CTA — 90-Second Demo

Organic visitors are cold. 'Download' is too much friction on first visit. Add a video/demo CTA to capture emails before the app-store bounce — turns a lost click into a warm lead.

Blog: Target Post-Call Shame Queries

Agents search 'why do I freeze on cold calls' and 'real estate prospecting anxiety' — high volume, near-zero competition. One good article targets the Awareness stage perfectly and funnels into signup.
